RodRozen Designs lights a different kind of fireplace

Bio-ethanol, flueless fireplaces are growing in popularity: they're the perfect addition to a glorious Vancouver summer patio day.

Exclusive to RodRozen Designs, Saffretti fireplaces are designed in the Netherlands and bring a European aesthetic to West Coast homes. Their sleek design and high-quality finish add sophistication and elegance to backyard living. Their ambient firelight and versatile, freestanding construction lend both an architectural and aesthetic element to outdoor entertaining.

Saffretti's bio-ethanol fireplaces bring a warm touch of class.

Because they have no flue, they can be used indoors, as well, to create stunning focal points where traditional mantels might have been. Hung on a wall facing a seating area, they create the look and feel of a real fireplace; freestanding, they become artworks to be admired from any point in the room.

Entertaining will go on until the wee hours as these fireplaces burn warm and bright. Everyone will be drawn to their elegant beauty like moths to a flame.
